

Enrolling full day school K-5th Grade!

Feller School builds a strong reading foundation to empower students with dyslexia. All students will learn to read and write, preparing them for future success.

Feller School serves students at risk for reading failure, who are currently struggling with reading, spelling, or have a dyslexia diagnosis.

Our program is designed for students with average and above intelligence who simply process information differently from what is expected in a traditional classroom.

Feller Facts:

- Literacy development begins at birth.
- Reading is language based.
- We are not born to learn to read. We must be taught.
- Learning struggles can run in the family.
- 1 in 5 students have dyslexia.

Tuition: $15,000 per year

 Needs Based Tuition Assistance Available*

School Choice: Using a 529 savings plan for private school tuition The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 contains a provision that allows use of Section 529 savings to pay for private K-12 education up to $10,000 per year, per child starting in 2018. Establishing and funding a Section 529 plan can provide significant tax benefits. See your investment advisor and CPA for more information.

Wisconsin Tuition Tax Deduction

Parents may deduct up to $4,000 of tuition per student in grades Kindergarten through eighth grade. See your CPA for more information.

If dyslexia runs in your family, you may know that your child has dyslexia long before professionals do.

Dyslexia is a Learning Difference:

If dyslexia runs in your family, you may know that your child has dyslexia long before professionals are ready to acknowledge it or support and assess them. However, it is increasingly evident that early intervention is critical, so here are the warning signs and how you can give your child the best start.

Warning signs to look for:

1. Poor phonological awareness

- ✓ Difficulty perceiving the individual sounds in words.
- ✓ Late talker. May continue to be a quiet child.
- ✓ Unclear speech (e.g. 'duce' for juice, 'wabit' for rabbit, 'busgety' for spaghetti, 'baftub' for bathtub)
- ✓ May not pick up on rhyme (e.g. "box, fox, ___?")

2. Poor working memory

- ✓ Difficulty 'holding' information in short-term memory and doing anything with it.
- ✓ They may quickly forget new words and names and have difficulty remembering multistage directions. (e.g. get your coat and bag, and come downstairs)

3. Poor rapid retrieval skills

- ✓ Difficulty accessing the information in the brain quickly and automatically.
- ✓ Difficulty remembering common sequences such as the order of numbers, letters of the alphabet, or the order of the days of the week.
- ✓ Frequently uses imprecise words like 'thing,' 'stuff,' 'it,' or 'he.'

It is important to compare your child to other children of the same age. It is also important to note that exceptionally verbal and bright students can hide a lot of dyslexic difficulties.

Teach Tutor Train Transform

"I learned to decode words.
Now I can read. . .
just like everybody else in class."

Feller School Student

"Our child made huge strides in reading, writing, speech and language. His smile came back and he was excited about school. Feller School is a game-changer!"

- Parent of student at Feller School

"We play games and it makes learning to read fun.
I only get homework from my other school."
